Bartlett News

By Sherry Tetschner

The Bartlett Lions Club enjoyed a late Christmas party at 6 p.m. on January 12 at the Bartlett old fire hall. Twenty members were present. The evening began with a brief monthly meeting discussing the upcoming Ground Hog supper.

A meal followed consisting of smoked pork and baked potatoes, prepared by Delan Reed and Dave Collins, and salads and desserts provided by attending members. A gift exchange followed the delicious meal. The next meeting will be held February 9 at 7 p.m. at the old fire hall in Bartlett.

We are very saddened of hearing of the death of Barb Anderson of Ericson. Barb died Monday, January 16 at the age of 63 after a long battle with cancer.

Many "Good Samaritans," were out and about cleaning up Bartlett after the last snowstorm with "Bobcats," large tractors and various types of plows. Ben and I are very grateful for the help we were given and I know many others were as well. We are very thankful for the moisture in a year plagued with drought.

FFA Student of the Month

William Heilhecker

William Heilhecker is a senior FFA member. He is the son of Heidi Rethmeier and Joseph Heilhecker.

Over the past four years, William has remained a dedicated and involved FFA member of the chapter. He has participated in numerous community service activities, competition events, and state convention leadership events.

William Heilhecker

As a freshman member, his Agriscience Fair project was selected as a finalist for National FFA. Unfortunately, he was not able to compete in person at the national level, but was still able to do the competition online and earned a silver medal. This past year, William has been busy with Range Judging and LDE's. He recently competed in the district X employment skills competition. He earned a trip to the final round but missed qualifying for state by a couple. Looking to this spring, he will compete in numerous CDE events and will earn his State FFA Degree in March. Congratulations William!

Smothered Burritos

Head "south of the border" with this family meal.

Good day,
Are you in the mood for something a little different for supper tonight? Here's one of my favorite Mexican dishes. My whole family loves this recipe.
I make this when the kids come home for something different. They like it with all the extra toppings on it.
Serve it with some black beans and corn salsa and chips, then you have a wonderful Mexican meal from scratch.
Just remember you can't have too much cheese on them!

So yummy,
Jo Ann

SMOTHERED BURRITOS

2 lbs hamburger
2 cups shredded cheddar cheese (divided usage)
1/2 cups chopped onion
1 can cream of mushroom soup

1 can tomato soup
2 10 oz cans enchilada sauce (mild)
Flour tortillas

Brown the hamburger, drain well. Add chopped onion and 1/2 cup shredded cheese. Set aside.
Combine soups and sauces.
Top each tortilla with a spoon full of the meat mixture. (I like to put a little of the soup mixture in each tortilla.) Roll them up and place seam side down in a sprayed 9x13 pan.
This should make between 6-8 tortillas.
Once you have filled the pan, pour the sauce mixture over the top and top with remaining cheese. Bake for 25-30 mins at 350°.

HINT: Once they're done, I like to serve them with chopped lettuce, diced onion, more cheese, salsa and sour cream. This makes a whole meal. Delicious!

NNF grant to help rejuvenate nurses' breakroom at AMH

The Nebraska Nurses Foundation has awarded the 2022 NNF Project Grant to Savannah Henn, BSN, RN of Antelope Memorial Hospital (AMH).

It will be used for the rejuvenation of the nurses' breakroom in promoting nurse wellness and resiliency at AMH.

"Over the last two and half years, COVID-19 and other day-to-day tasks for nurses have created burnout and stress and I saw this as an opportunity to give back to the staff nurses at AMH," Henn said.

The hospital is currently remodeling the inpatient floor and in the final phase of construction which includes the nurses' breakroom. The grant will be used to purchase a coffee pot, microwave and office chairs for the breakroom.

"I hope our staff enjoys their rejuvenated area and are able to have a place to step away from the hustle and bustle of their work," Henn said.

A new career path beckons

With gratitude, I would like to thank The Elgin Review for allowing me to share my love of nutrition and health over the last four and a half years. I dreamt up the idea of writing in a newspaper while on a nutrition conference back in May 2018 and have been writing ever since!

However, since that time, my life has changed dramatically, and I would like to share those changes with you today in my last article for The Elgin Review.

In the summer of 2020, I felt called to return to school to take my pre-requisite classes for PA School (Physician Assistant). I was feeling burnt out in my current role as a personal trainer and Nutritional Therapy Practitioner because I was so limited in how I could truly enact change in my clients.

Without a medical degree and the advanced knowledge with it, my ability to truly help those struggling with severe health concerns, such as gut issues or hormone imbalances, was impaired.

Thus, I headed back to UNL in January 2021, five years after graduating with my bachelors degree. I jumped back into classes, starting with the required freshman level classes before working my way up. As of this writing, I have 13 credit hours left to complete before beginning PA school in June.

I applied to several different PA schools, but ultimately chose Des Moines University (DMU), a medical university in Des Moines, IA, that accepts only graduate and doctorate level students. Orientation is June 2, and I begin classes on Monday, June 5.

DMU is currently building a new campus in West Des Moines, so I will be the first class of students on campus in June! I'm excited for this new opportunity to learn and grow as an individual and provider for my future patients. My husband Jimmy and I will be taking on the (lovely) task of moving in May after I finish up my last semester of classes at UNL.

If you would like to share how my articles have impacted your health or given you new ideas or perspectives, I would love to hear from you! I can be reached at:

Olivia McEwen
5450 Shady Creek Ct Apt 5
Lincoln, NE 68516
Again, I want to thank all of my readers for your support and encouragement throughout these past several years.

Every time I came back to Elgin for a visit, I was always grateful for all the positive praise. Please pray for me as I begin this new, exciting, and challenging journey!

Opinion

Read. Reflect. Respond.

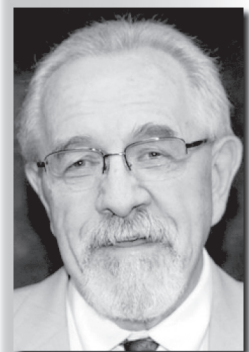

Should we even consider a two-house legislature?

Every session of the Nebraska Legislature features what promises to be a real clunker of a bill. This year's prizewinner – so far – is a proposal to change from a unicameral to a two-house Legislature.

Even the sponsor of the measure (LR2CA) admits that the proposed Constitutional Amendment probably won't get out of committee. Senator Steve Erdman of Bayard says it will be because of those "people living in the east." The Nebraska Republican Party included in its platform a plank calling for a "return to a bicameral legislature whereby the upper house has fewer members but larger territorial areas to include a more diverse set of interests in the legislative process."

CAPITOL VIEW

Nebraska Press Association

Statehouse Correspondent
J.L. Schmidt

Not only is such apportionment constitutionally suspect, but the measure is also a bad idea, party support or not. Let's take a legislative body that has worked well since 1937 and make it more like Congress, because we know how well that's working out.

I guess we should be happy that the measure isn't supporting a theocracy, although I wouldn't put it past some to propose. In case you're scrambling to look it up, that's "government by divine guidance or by officials who are regarded as divinely guided." Yes, they're out there.

Erdman says a bicameral legislature would better represent the interest of Nebraskans, particularly those from areas west of Lincoln. It would result in better representation for rural parts of the state.

Those areas have lost political power as half of Nebraska's population has concentrated in Lincoln, Omaha and the surrounding areas, a trend expected to continue in the future.

If passed by the Legislature, placed on the ballot and approved by voters, the proposal would add a second house to the Legislature with 31 members who represent three counties each, along with a lower house with 62 members representing districts apportioned by population. Excuse me, there's that constitutional problem again.

Two houses would function as a better check on one another than the current system, where the people of Nebraska are referred to as "the second house," Erdman says, claiming that people rarely have an opportunity to vote on petitions or referendums, and aren't likely to make a dent in lawmakers' thinking by testifying during committee hearings.

Never mind that the outspoken senator from the Panhandle has spent his legislative career arguing in the George W. Norris Legislative Chamber, he says he wants people to know not all Nebraskans think highly of Norris, who is said to have worn out two sets of tires driving across the state to advocate for the unicameral legislature.

Norris, who was first elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1902, later served five terms in the U.S. Senate, changing his party from Republican to independent in 1936.

"Everybody worships George Norris like he was something special — he wasn't," Erdman told members of the press. "He was very liberal, the most liberal senator in the U.S. Senate. His mission wasn't honorable."

Why Republican farmer Erdman decided to trash Senator Norris remains a mystery. But it does prove that he needs a history reminder.

Norris is credited with planning the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), which provided flood control and created electricity in the region drained by the Tennessee River. More importantly, the TVA was a forerunner of the Rural Electrification Act (REA), which eventually brought electricity to farms and ranches across the nation.

Think about that when you go back to the farm senator and turn on the lights.

Nebraska's young leaders

Nebraska has a rich heritage of military service. Over the years, thousands of Nebraskans have answered the call and served our country heroically.

I am proud that many young Nebraskans want to continue this important tradition of service to our country.

Each year, my staff and I review applications from high school students across Nebraska who are interested in attending one or more of the country's five distinguished military academies. The five academies are the U.S. Military Academy (West Point, New York), the U.S. Naval Academy (Annapolis, Maryland), the U.S. Air Force Academy (Colorado Springs, Colorado), the U.S. Coast Guard Academy (New London, Connecticut), and the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy (Kings Point, New York).

All of the military academies, except the Coast Guard Academy, require a nomination from a U.S. Senator or a member of the U.S. House of Representatives to accept a student's application.

This year, I am honored to nominate 18 young men and women to one or more of the service academies for the Class of 2027. Each of these students has an excellent academic record, proven leadership skills, and a desire to serve our country. I am confident that they would be exemplary officers in the United States military.

As Nebraska's senior senator, I have nominated hundreds of men and women to the service academies since 2013, many of whom were accepted and serve our country in incredible ways.

My nomination is only the beginning of the journey for these outstanding candidates. Students also submit applications to the academies themselves, which will conduct a rigorous review of their credentials. The academies have high standards for acceptance to ensure they continue to produce quality military officers. It is my hope that the highly selective admissions staff at these schools recognize our young Nebraskans as some of the best and brightest in our country.

Students at the academies receive an education equal to our country's most respected universities, coupled with training that molds America's young people into tomorrow's leaders. Eager men and women are transformed into informed, courageous officers, ready and able to serve. Academy graduates serve for a minimum of five years, after which some remain in military service and some move on to civilian leadership positions.

The military training and classroom instruction provided to academy cadets and midshipmen shape their characters as officers and as civilians.

Reading the applications of our young leaders fills me with optimism for our state and our country at large. We are headed toward a bright future forged by these Nebraskans. It is my pleasure and privilege to nominate 18 exceptional young men and women to the five military academies this year. I know these students will represent both the United States and Nebraska with dignity during their service.

I hope to hear from more future leaders during the nomination process for next year. To learn more about the academies, visit their websites:

WASHINGTON REPORT

U.S. Senator
Deb Fischer

Protecting families and small businesses

Just two weeks from the start of tax filing season, an efficient and functioning Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has never been more important. The overwhelming majority of Americans pay their taxes; however, 90 percent of the $80 billion in new IRS funding in the Inflation Act would pave the way for more audits on working class families.

Instead of addressing problems like the IRS's massive return processing backlog, customer service failures, and alarming leaks of private taxpayer data, Democrats in Congress last year directed $80 billion to IRS, with 90% of that funding focused on vastly expanding the IRS' audit capacity, and not just for the wealthy. The Biden administration's own documents say they are increasing the IRS employee headcount by 87,000 over the next decade with these funds. Furthermore, Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen's instructions to the IRS stated families and small businesses earning less than $400,000 should continue to be audited at historically similar rates. Under those instructions, 9 out of every 10 new audits can target families and small businesses earning less than $400,000. In fact, during debate on the Inflation Act House Republicans attempted to pass an amendment to ensure no new audits would be conducted on families or small businesses earning less than $400,000, but House Democrats would not even allow a vote on the amendment on the House floor.

Hiring more than 80,000 new IRS employees tasked with raising enough revenue through audits so Democrats can hand billions of dollars out to profitable businesses to buy electric trucks for their fleets, fuel for their airplanes, and install large scale wind and solar across America's landscapes is unacceptable. Americans want an IRS that works for them, not against them. For this reason, Congresswoman Michelle Steel of California and I introduced a bill to rescind any IRS funding in the Inflation Act that could go toward enforcement. Our bill – H.R. 23, the Family and Small Business Taxpayer Protection Act – leaves in place funding for customer service and IT improvements because IRS is in desperate need of reform, but it protects middle-class families from audits they cannot afford.

I'm proud H.R. 23 was the first bill considered and passed in the House of Representatives in the 118th Congress. This commonsense bill would simply prevent the IRS from using its massive infusion of taxpayer dollars to harass and squeeze more revenue out of American families.

American taxpayers continue to suffer as December was the 21st straight month U.S. wage growth failed to keep pace with historic inflation and remained negative. The last thing the American people need right now are more audits from an out-of-control, bloated IRS. Through our Commitment to America, House Republicans will fight to deliver a government that's accountable, both through oversight and through this process which we will consider bills like mine under our Republican majority.

Under the new House rules, which I strongly supported, members must be given at least 72 hours' notice prior to consideration of a bill. Further, bills must only cover one topic – we will no longer allow special interest provisions to be hidden in kitchen sink bills. This is in stark contrast with the broken practice of rushing legislation to the House floor before members even have time to read what they are voting on. H.R. 23 was considered under these new rules. Further, 72 hours was more than enough time for members to review this bill. It is two pages long and covers only one topic. This is just one of many ways House Republicans will deliver on our Commitment to America.

There are numerous reasons to support The Family and Small Business Taxpayer Protection Act. It protects families and small businesses, leaving in place resources needed for IRS to address its customer service and return processing problems.

Most importantly, it stops autopilot funding for an out-of-control government agency that is perhaps most in need of reform.

I was honored to sponsor this bill as it passed in the House, and I am grateful to Rep. Steel for her collaboration on this effort.

Committee appointments announced

Late last week I learned of my appointment to three special committees: Justice Reinvestment Oversight, State-Tribal Relations, and Statewide Tourism and Recreation Water Access and Resource Sustainability (STAR WARS). I am pleased to both be the Vice-Chair of State-Tribal Relations and be able to provide the 40th District with continued representation on the STAR WARS Committee. As a member, I hope to bring the proposed event center and lodge at Niobrara State Park, boat launch near the Village of Niobrara, and expansion of the Weigand Marina at the Lewis and Clark State Recreational Area from the drawing board to reality.

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

District 40 Senator
Barry DeKay

This week saw the Legislature conclude bill introduction for the year. Senators introduced 812 legislative bills that will each receive a public hearing this session. I introduced six bills and I would like to discuss three of them.

LB 484 would finish the expansion of U.S. 81 to a 4-lane highway by requiring the Department of Transportation to finish construction between York and Columbus and Norfolk to the South Dakota line. I believe this project is long overdue in terms of safety, convenience, and growing northeast Nebraska.

LB 767 would increase the indigent defense filing fee from three dollars to eight dollars so as to provide stable funding for the Nebraska Commission on Public Advocacy. The Commission was created in 1995 to provide property tax relief to counties that are required to provide legal representation to indigent defendants charged with first-degree murder and serious violent or drug related felonies. Before the creation of the Commission, smaller counties faced the prospect of raising property taxes or declaring bankruptcy if a person or group charged with a heinous crime was unable to pay for their legal defense.

LB 768 would transfer 30 million from the Cash Reserve Fund to support the development of the Cedar Knox Rural Water Project (CKRWP) being overseen by the Lewis and Clark NRD. This system serves 900 rural service connections, two SIDs, three housing developments, five campgrounds, and four communities: Crofton, Fordyce, Obert, and St. Helena. However, the intake struc-

Your Local Church Welcomes You Back!
Attending church on a regular basis is an integral part of faith communities and adds to an individual's sense of a faith family. If it's been a while since you've attended a service/Mass, come back. You are always welcome.

Justice doesn't just happen. It requires action on our part.
Kindness should be a way of life.
Humility is knowing God is God and we are not.
In church this week, consider those expectations God has of us.

...walk humbly with your God.

Three EPPJ wrestlers place at Warrior Invite Saturday

NELIGH — Top tier talent squared off against Wolfpack wrestlers Saturday at the Neligh-Oakdale Invite. And, like they have all season, Elgin Public-Pope John held their own.

Five Wolfpack wrestlers saw action Saturday and three found their way to the medal stand at the conclusion of the tournament.

The Wolfpack's two top wrestlers - Carter Beckman and Samuel Hemenway - wrestled their way into the championship round.

Beckman, continuing to build on a stellar season, won three matches (two by pin) to reach the championship match where he faced Pleasanton's Gatlin Krepela. Krepela, one of the best in Class D, earned his 30th victory of the season with a five-to-two victory over Beckman.

Hemenway needed just two matches to get to the final. After pinning his quarterfinal round opponent, Hemenway faced Beau Wiebelhaus in the semi-finals. Wiebelhaus led Hemenway in the third period. Needing a pin to win the match, Hemenway did just that with just 23 seconds left in the match.

In the finals, Hemenway was bested by Anselmo-Merna's Sid Miller.

Freshman Landyn Veik placed sixth in the 138-pound weight class due to the five-match limit. In his run, Veik posted victories over Osmond's Dominic True, Mullen's Justin French and Lutheran High Northeast's Justis Searight.

Complete results for Wolfpack wrestlers were:

113 pounds — Quarterfinal - Morgan Bunner (Clarkson/Leigh) won by fall over Kaeden Schwarting (Fall 2:31); Cons. Round 2 - Schwarting won by fall over Dylan Curry (Lutheran High Northeast) (Fall

Turnovers key in EPPJ girls' victory at Winside

WINSIDE — The Wolfpack's two leading scorers (Ashlynn Charf and Keyera Eisenhauer) each scored 16 points Saturday to help lead Elgin Public-Pope John to a 72 to 28 victory over Winside.

The Wolfpack girls at one point in the game led by 44 points as Winside couldn't match EPPJ's point production.

EPPJ jumped out to a 26 to eight lead after one quarter, and added to it to take a 44 to 18 lead at halftime.

In the second half, the Wolfpack's defense limited Winside to just 10 points.

Aside from the high-scoring Wolfpack duo, EPPJ got eight points from Kate Furstenau, seven from Brenna Martinsen and six from Laia Domingo.

EPPJ (12-3) made just under 45 percent of their field goal attempts (25-56) and 16 of 25 free throws.

EPPJ's defensive pressure forced Winside into 32 turnovers in the game.

Smidt places second at N-O Invite Friday

NELIGH — It didn't take long, match wise, for Wolfpack senior Isabella Smidt to get to the victory stand Friday.

Competing at the first-ever Neligh-Oakdale Girls Invite, Smidt wrestled three times, winning two matches by pin to place second in the 190-pound division.

Showing the form has made her one of the best girl wrestlers in the Niobrara Valley Conference, Smidt pinned Franklin's Madison Holman in 1:27. Then, after losing her second match, she came back to pin Lakeview's Hannah Ogan in under a minute.

Friday's matches wrapped up a busy week for Smidt.

On Monday, she competed at the Battle Creek Girls Invite. Smidt (7-8) placed sixth in the 180-pound division (according to TrackWrestling). Individual match results were:

Wolfpack grind out 39-31 victory

WINSIDE — Tied 27-all entering the fourth quarter, Elgin Public-Pope John pulled ahead to claim a 39 to 31 victory over Winside in boys basketball action Saturday, January 14.

Just hours after a heart-breaking loss to Stuart Friday, the Wolfpack faced a Winside team attempting to pull off an upset.

Winside capitalized on cold Wolfpack shooting for much of the game. EPPJ finished just 13 of 37 from the field and six of 15 from the free throw line.

Still, when it mattered most, the Wolfpack answered the call. In the fourth quarter, with the game on the line, EPPJ outscored their opponent 12 to four to earn the victory.

The Wolfpack (9-5) was led in scoring by Dylon Lueking and Paiton Hoefer each with 10 points. Lueking led the team in rebounds (5). Jack Wemhoff dished off a team-high three assists.

Snow hills offer opportunities

Like many of you, I spent Thursday digging out from another snowstorm which rolled across the state.

According to the Morgan Weather Station (located in my backyard), eight inches of the white stuff fell. Thank goodness the winds didn't blow as hard as in past storms. For the most part, the snow stayed where it landed.

My friends to the west weren't as lucky. In Grant, where we once lived, 16 inches of snow fell. That's a lot. Since the middle of December, one of my friends said 38 inches of snow has been recorded.

Near Broken Bow, my golf partner said they had between 22 and 24 inches, depending on where you were at in Custer County. She sent me a photo of her backyard where she raises four dogs. I swear, there are piles of snow anywhere. Good luck Fido finding any private time back there.

Here, there are plenty of man-made snow mountains for the kids to climb and have fun on.

I saw a few youngsters on the snow hills in recent days, donning stocking caps, gloves and snow pants perfect for the day.

As I was driving around town, I couldn't help but think how these snow piles could be thought of, in a small way, like the ski resorts in Colorado.

Almost on every block, there was a snow pile reaching up to the sky.

When I was a youngster, my Dad would clean out the snow around the house at the farm. Just south of the house, he would stack as much snow as he could, going as high as the loader would go before dumping it to the ground. With an old-fashioned snow sleigh, I would drag it to the top, then slide down as far as I could.

The sledding got better when the snow became packed.

Those were some of the best days for a single child to look forward to. After school, after chores, the sled got a workout until Mom said it was time to come in for supper.

Do kids make memories like that anymore?

Here in Elgin, there are precious few spots to go sledding. That's why these snow piles offer plenty.

Towns built around and on top of hills provide ample opportunities. My hometown would close several blocks of a street on Saturdays and Sundays when conditions were perfect for sledding.

Do kids have memories like that?

I don't think so, thanks to all the electronic games available to them. Why go outside and sled when you can stay warm inside and fight World War II all over again?

Why build a snow fort and toss snowballs when you can hangout in your bedroom and play 'Grand Theft Auto' for hours on end?

Why? Thanks for asking. The answer is simple. Finding joy outside beats going brain numb staring at a screen and pushing a bunch of buttons. There's something about cold air biting your cheeks, making your fingers and toes tingle.

Speaking of snowstorms, have you ever noticed just how blue the sky is after the weather system clears out?

Usually, but not always, the day after it passes you can't find a cloud in the sky.

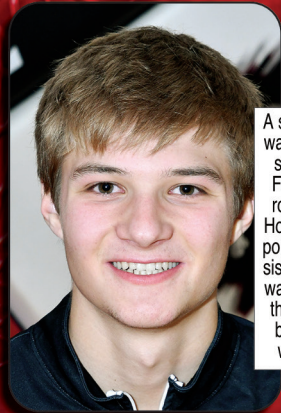

I'm no Jeremiah Johnson, nor would I like to necessarily ride a storm out in the Rocky Mountains. But I do like all four seasons so I embrace the winter months and the accompanying snow fall. Each season has a beauty all it's own. What God does with snow and, on occasion with wind, creates a winter wonderland.

Wolfpack down Huskies 60 to 43

ELGIN — Making plays and eliminating turnovers equals victory.

Elgin Public-Pope John did just that Friday night en route to a 60 to 43 victory over Atkinson West Holt.

A very happy Coach Matt Euse said the team's play in the first half set the tempo for a game whereby EPPJ pulled away in the fourth quarter to win by double-digits.

In the first half, Euse said the Wolfpack had zero turnovers and gave up just three offensive rebounds.

"To me, that's wow!" the coach said.

The Wolfpack capitalized on treys from Jack Wemhoff, Paiton Hoefer and Dylan Lueking to build a first quarter lead which grew to 24 to 17 by halftime.

Treys proved to be instrumental as the Wolfpack pulled away in the second half.

EPPJ scored just four baskets in the third quarter, all treys to keep the Huskies

Neligh pharmacist trial continued to May

By Sandy Schroth
Court reporter
A jury trial for a Neligh pharmacist accused of health-care fraud has again been postponed, this time at the request of the prosecution, due to a witness who was subpoenaed to testify out of state.
United States Magistrate Judge Michael Nelson signed an order Jan. 17, granting the unopposed prosecution motion to continue Danelle Charf's jury trial in the US District Court of Nebraska, to 9 a.m., May 8, in Courtroom No. 4 in the Ronald L. Hruska United States Courthouse at 111 South 18th Plaza in Omaha. The case will be heard by Chief United States District Judge Robert Rossiter Jr.
Charf was arraigned June 19, 2022, on a five-count indictment, charging her with healthcare fraud. She entered not guilty pleas to all five allegations at the June hearing.
On Jan. 13, Donald Kleine filed a notice of his appearance as assistant United States attorney in the case.
Charf is represented by David Domina of Omaha.

Many court cases continued, other defendants skip appearances

Two defendants were arraigned in the Antelope County courtroom in Neligh last week, while, in the wake of a pending winter storm, many either had their appearances continued to next month or just didn't show up. One defendant had his case dismissed.
Austin R. Bertschinger, 30, of Oakdale appeared in front of the Honorable Donna Taylor on Jan. 18 for arraignment on a count of possession of tramadol, a Class 4 felony alleged Dec. 10.
Bertschinger request court-appointed counsel. After holding an indigency hearing, Taylor appointed Antelope County Public Defender Pat Carney of Norfolk. Further arraignment is set Feb. 1. Bond posted Dec. 28, in the amount of $1,000, 10% cash, is continued as well.
Bertschinger was arrested Dec. 10 by an Antelope County deputy, on the Madison-Antelope county line near Tilden, after a bottle of Tramadol was allegedly found in the purse of a passenger during a search of his vehicle. According to a probable-cause affidavit filed by the officer, Bertschinger allegedly claimed the drug and told officers it was given to him by his grandmother for a dog bite he had suffered the previous day.
Timothy D. Anderson, 66, of Neligh appeared for arraignment on a Class 2 misdemeanor, leaving scene of property-damage accident, alleged Oct. 28, 2022. Anderson pleaded guilty and Taylor set sentencing Feb. 15. Anderson was ordered to obtain an alcohol/drug evaluation from a certified counselor. He is represented by Carney.
Adam M. Babl of Norfolk appeared for pretrial hearing on two counts, no proof of financial responsibility, a Class 2 misdemeanor and no valid registration, a Class 3 misdemeanor, both alleged June 18, 2022. Deputy Antelope County Attorney Joe Smith dismissed both counts without prejudice. Babl, who was represented by Carney, was taxed $49 costs.
Bobbi S. Jenkins, 38, of Plainview appeared for pretrial hearing on two counts alleged July 12, no proof of financial responsibility, a Class 2 misdemeanor, and traveling on a closed road, an infraction. Taylor sustained a defense motion to continue. Pretrial is continued to Feb. 15. Jenkins is represented by Carney.
Taylor continued felony first appearances and misdemeanor arraignments for several more defendants:
• Morgan K. Anson, 24, Orchard, first hearing continued to Feb. 1 on a Class 2A felony, theft by receiving stolen property and three Class 4 felonies, possession of methamphetamine, operating a motor vehicle to avoid arrest and possession of burglar tools, all alleged Dec. 9, 2022; motion filed to revoke bond posted Dec. 20, 2022, in the amount of $50,000, 10%;
• Sarah J. Ward, 46, Oakdale, first hearing continued to Feb. 1 on Class 4 felony, possession of controlled substance (methamphetamine) alleged Jan. 4; bond in amount of $20,000, 10% cash, posted Jan. 10, is also continued;
• Breanna M. McNutt, 22, Norfolk, hearing continued to Feb. 1 on allegations of probation violation;
• Barbara Youngblood, 42, O'Neill, pretrial hearing continued to Feb. 15 on Count I, third-degree assault, a Class 1 misdemeanor, and Count II, disturbing the peace, a Class 3 misdemeanor, both alleged Sept. 24, 2022;
• Maverick Short, 18, Oakdale, pretrial hearing continued to Feb. 1 on two counts, Count I, driving under the influence of alcohol (high test), a Class W misdemeanor, and MIP, a Class 3 misdemeanor, both alleged Oct. 1, 2022; $1,500 personal recognizance bond also continued;
• Roscoe L. Wallace, 55, Sioux City, Iowa, arraignment continued to Feb. 1 on possession of marijuana, an infraction alleged Dec. 10, 2022;
• Tanai R. Zlomke, 32, Verdigr, arraignment continued to Feb. 1 on possession of drug paraphernalia, an infraction alleged Dec. 10;
• Michael Hansen, 36, Stanton, arraignment continued to Feb. 1 on Class 1 misdemeanor

• Randi Mack, 35, Elgin, arraignment continued to Feb. 1 on three counts of issuing bad checks, 0 to $500, alleged in July and August 2022;

Snow and the impact it has on your herd

Having just come off of another substantial snow storm, let's take a look today at a few ways winter conditions can impact our herd.

Just how much snow or ice can be a problem for animals grazing is debatable. This back and forth can mostly be attributed to two factors, the forage itself and precipitation we receive. The height and structure of forage is a huge part of availability under snow or ice. A foot of stockpiled grass or a hay swath with lots of air is going to be easier to break into and get meaningful forage from than a shortly grazed pasture or corn residue lying on the ground.

When it comes to precipitation, what we receive can impact availability as well. A heavy, wet snow will be harder to dig through than dry, fluff. While this latest snow may not have been the wettest on record, the large amount will result in the bottom portion getting compressed and more difficult to dig through. This can also happen as snow is exposed to warm air or sunlight and softens or melts a bit before refreezing at night. Compression and the forming of a crust makes animals trying to dig through for a bite have to work that much harder.

With ice, thickness and length of time it is maintained are the two factors to keep in mind. An inch of ice that melts in a day or two after warm temperatures can have less of an impact and ½ inch that sticks around for 3 or 4 days.

So what is the level we need to watch for? I like the 6 and ¾ inch rule. 6 inches of snow or ¾ inch of ice, and animals are going to work harder to eat. At this point we need to start watching animal condition, and be ready to supplement, especially when temperatures drop. With colder temperatures, animals require more and more energy just to meet basic metabolic needs.

Animals can learn to graze through snow and ice, but their grazing efficiency is decreased. It's also important to keep in mind that this is a learned behavior, so don't expect animals that have relied up on hay in the past to pick it up overnight. It might be tempting to push animals so they are hungry enough to dig down and find forage. Be careful not to over-do it, especially if you see body condition slipping. A better option may be to help facilitate the learning by scrapping snow away from an area so animals can see for themselves the food below the snow.

One way to be more efficient and limit impact of winter grazing is to strip graze. This keeps animals from packing down snow or trampling feed into the ground by limiting the amount of field they have access too. Additionally, limiting animal's selectivity prevents cherry picking the best stuff first and leaving lower quality forage to the end of the grazing period. While initial grazing may not be as nutrient dense, the overall quality of diet during the entire grazing period will be constantly higher quality.

Knowing how to handle snow and ice is important for a healthy herd come spring. Taller and fluffier forages like stockpiled pasture or windrowed grass are easier for animals to reach under snow and ice. Keep an eye on animals that must dig through more than 6 inches of snow or ¾ inch of ice, especially when cold temperatures are thrown into the mix.

Area Catholic parishes given a glimpse of likely changes to come

The Archdiocese of Omaha released their plans last week for the re-structuring of its parishes. Called "Journey of Faith", the Archdiocese has been working with local parish committees since 2021 to address a number of issues the church is facing.

Noting that the changes are necessary due to less priests available to serve parishes, less parishioners attending weekly masses, populations shifting from rural to urban areas — not to mention increasing operating expenses for each parish — Archbishop George Lucas said "We are being invited to imagine our parishes in new ways with the focus on our becoming missionary disciples, so that we can lead others to Jesus Christ."

Former St. Boniface/St. Bonaventure priest Father Kevin Vogel tells parishioners that "We have to change from looking inward at ourselves and how we can maintain ourselves in the way that we've always done things, to actually going forth and realizing that we've been sent on mission by Jesus to go and share the Good News of the Gospel. As Catholics, we haven't always thought in those terms."

In literature sent to parishioners, the Archdiocese outlined how current parishes will be grouped into "families". For Elgin-area parishes, they will become part of Family K. Family K will be comprised of St. Boniface-Elgin, St. Bonaventure-Raeville, St. John the Baptist-Petersburg, St. Peter de Alcántara-Ewing, St. John the Baptist-Deloit, St. Francis of Assisi-Neligh, Our Lady of Mount Carmel-Tilden and St. Theresa Mission-Clearwater. Two schools will be part of Family K - St. Boniface Elementary School and Pope John Central Catholic High School, both located in Elgin. These eight churches will be served by a single pastor with 3 priests in 2023 and 2 priests projected for 2033.

Commissioners get update on proposed pipeline

Representatives from Summit Carbon Solutions (SCS) provided an update to members of the Antelope County Board of Commissioners earlier this month.

SCS continues to move forward on developing a carbon dioxide pipeline starting in Iowa and would go through Antelope County and on to North Dakota.

Robert Latimer and Ben Fuller were joined by Brent Niese. They told the commissioners the carbon dioxide pumped through the pipeline would be pressurized into a liquid formation to North Dakota where plans are to store it underground in rock formations for "hundreds of years."

They said, in Nebraska, there would be 317 miles of pipeline. So far, approximately 54 percent of easement right of ways have been acquired.

In Antelope County there would be 27 miles of six-inch line. So far, approximately 45 percent of the easement miles has been acquired.

Right now, SCS is proposing an August 2023 project construction timeline.

If constructed, Antelope County would have a single isolation valve.

The construction process across Nebraska is expected to take three to four months, once the work begins.

Other information presented as part of the update were:

Local effort — Local businesses will be contacting and contracting as the project goes on.

Employment — In Nebraska, 1,300 to 1,400 people would be employed during the construction phase.

How close? — The plan, they said is to be no closer than 330 feet from any home in the county.

SCS representatives will be back in several months to provide another update.

Wolfpack hold off West Holt 41 to 40

ELGIN — In a close game, free throws can be the difference.
On Friday night, Elgin Public-Pope John made all six of their free throws in the final 30 seconds of the game to claim a 41 to 40 victory over Atkinson West Holt.
“Our girls battled,” Coach Randy Eisenhower said about the game, noting that West Holt is a very athletic team and it showed on defense.
“We could have folded a couple of times. They made some big shots (at the end) ... But right away our girls bounced back.”
The Lady Huskies, entering the game with a 7-7 record, proved to be a pesky opponent as EPPJ led most of the game. But, credit the Lady Huskies, they never gave up and made it interesting in the end.

The Wolfpack led by five points at halftime, 21 to 16. But, in the third quarter, they had five turnovers before scoring a point. West Holt took advantage of the Wolfpack's misfortune, tying the score at 29-all.

Ashlynn Charf scored for EPPJ to regain the lead. Then, after another West Holt free throw, junior Keyera Eisenhower scored and added a free throw for a 34 to 30 lead with 1:28 left in the game.

From there, the Wolfpack would finish the game at the free throw line. Charf made five of six free throws and Eisenhower added two.

“We knocked them (free throws) down when we needed them,” Coach Eisenhower said. Charf led EPPJ with 14 by four, 36 to 32 with one quarter to play.

“It was an intense game and our guys played really well. They just got me more and more excited,” Coach Euse said about the fourth quarter.

In the fourth quarter, EPPJ outscored the Huskies 24 to 11 to close out the game. Five points by Blake Henn and four from Hoefer helped the Wolfpack build a 50 to 39 lead midway through the quarter.

They finished the game on a 10 to three run. In the fourth quarter, the Wolfpack made 11 of 11 free throw attempts.

Hoefer led the Wolfpack with 19 points, Henn had 10, Wemhoff added nine and Lueking tossed in eight. EPPJ made 19 of 39 field goal attempts (nine of 23 from three-point range). From the free throw line, they finished 13 of 16.

BCHC donates AED to Werner Hall

Boone County Health Center (BCHC) recently donated two automated external defibrillators (AED)s. One donated to the Albion Sports Complex and one to Werner Hall in Petersburg. AEDs are portable medical devices that automatically analyze and detect cardiac arrhythmias of sudden cardiac arrest patients through electrodes, and are able to produce a shock which stops the heart and allows it to return to a normal rhythm, a process called defibrillation. As the summer approaches, an increase of ball players and spectators will be visiting the complex to enjoy a summer ball game. "The AED will help provide lifesaving measures in case of a cardiac emergency until first responders arrive. Having an AED on hand for trained volunteers to use is definitely a priority," stated Doctor Sean Kohl. Werner Hall also sees many people come through their doors with various celebrations and events that take place throughout the year. The donation of the AED was made possible from 340B funds which are used to improve community health.

Headed to State!

ture is expected to be filled in by sediment in approximately 20 years and the current production capacity of the treatment plant and portions of the distribution system are at or near their maximum sustainable level. This funding will assist with the cost of developing a groundwater source and a treatment plant before the potential increased population and infrastructure due to the STAR WARS projects proposed in northern Knox County.

On Thursday, the Legislature debated changes to the permanent rules. The Rules Committee, chaired by Senator Steve Erdman, considered 58 proposals. Ultimately, ten proposals were brought to floor and eight were adopted. Most of these proposals were largely technical in nature to allow for the quick adoption of permanent rules and the consideration of other business like the budget, voter ID, and the Governor's proposals for property tax and school finance reform. Senator Erdman has indicated that he plans to hold another public hearing on the proposals that received controversy or did not advance to the floor. I imagine several proposals, such as public votes for committee chairs and Speaker of the Legislature, will be discussed again during this hearing.

The Legislature also appears primed to take up at least two issues that fell to filibusters last year. Senator Tom Brewer introduced LB 77 that revives the effort to bring constitutional carry to Nebraska. This proposal would expand second amendment rights by allowing persons wanting to carry a concealed weapon to no longer need to get a permit. Senator Brewer prioritized this bill on day two meaning it is very likely to be debated this year.

Senator Joni Albrecht introduced LB 626 that would adopt the Nebraska Heartbeat Act. Under this legislation, abortions would be restricted once a fetal heartbeat is detected, usually after 6 to 8 weeks gestation. The bill contains exceptions for rape, incest and medical threats to a mother's life. It also spells out protections for in vitro fertilization and procedures after miscarriages. Doctors would lose their medical licenses if they performed an abortion after an ultrasound finds a heartbeat. As the only abortion restriction bill introduced, this bill is likely to be prioritized.
