Recent surveys highlight community needs, housing challenges and growth opportunities

Recent survey efforts in Elgin are providing a clearer picture of community strengths, service gaps, and priorities for the future. Results from both the Elgin Community Survey and a separate housing study offer insight into local conditions and how they relate to economic development.

The Community Survey gathered input from nearly 200 residents, asking participants to rate community conditions and priorities on a scale of 1 to 5, with 1 representing lower ratings and 5 representing higher ratings. Overall, residents rated the condition and appearance of the community as average to above average. Occupied downtown buildings were viewed positively, and both downtown and residential areas were generally seen as being in decent condition. However, respondents identified areas for improvement, particularly the condition of vacant commercial buildings and the variety of retail businesses available in Elgin.

Feedback on services was mixed. Some services, such as auto repair, were rated more favorably, while contractor-related services received more varied ratings, indicating inconsistent availability. Recreational amenities were generally rated as average to good, with ballfields and the campground receiving more favorable feedback, while walking trails and some park features were identified as areas that could benefit from improvement.

When asked about community needs, residents identified several key areas as highly important, including access to quality housing, availability of childcare, adequate employment opportunities, recruitment of emergency volunteers, and upgrades to community infrastructure. Addressing dilapidated housing and buildings was also identified as a priority. Looking ahead, respondents placed strong emphasis on economic development, including supporting and expanding existing businesses and attracting new service and retail businesses.

The separate housing study provides additional detail on housing conditions and availability in Elgin. The study found that 91% of respondents own their homes, while 9% rent, indicating a limited rental market.

This limited rental supply can make it difficult for individuals and families who are not in a position to purchase a home to find housing in the community. Affordability was also identified as a concern, with more than 35% of households reporting that they

The recent success of the Elgin FFA Chapter can be attributed, in large part, to the direction provided by Advisor Julia Schwartz.

Elgin FFA: Schwartz makes success a priority

By Jane Schuchardt
Special to The Elgin Review

The word ag, short for agriculture, could stand for 'always grand' when it comes to Julia Schwartz, the Elgin Public School (EPS) ag teacher and FFA advisor.

To say she is excited about her EPS job since she started in 2010 is an understatement. "I can pretty much tell which eighth grade student will be good at one thing or another," Schwartz said before class in her serene ag room next to the EPS gym. "Then (with a keen eye on interest and strengths), I really like to set them up to do well."

There's seldom a week that goes by during the academic year that The Elgin Review doesn't include an FFA student highlight. "Maybe I was tired, but I cried (with joy) at state convention this year," Schwartz said in her matter of fact, measured tone. "One of our students won the diversified ag proficiency competition. That's a big deal."

Another 'big deal' was winning third in state for range judging. And the list of successes goes on and on, year after year.

Interesting, though, it's not about winning with Schwartz. "I live for what I can do with these kids to have a lasting high school memory especially those not involved with other activities (outside the classroom). I want them to leave with a great memory. If that means winning, great. Also good if that means a lasting memory from a road trip."

Schwartz, who grew up on a farm west of Tilden, came to Elgin with solid credentials — Associate Degree in diversified agriculture, Nebraska College of Technical Agriculture, Curtis, 2001; Bachelor of Science in agricultural education, University of Nebraska-Lincoln, 2005, and Master of Science in biology, University of Nebraska-Kearney, 2021. High school graduation was Elkhorn Valley in 1999. She wasn't an FFA member since there wasn't a chapter.

She lives on her family's land where she and her husband, Charlie, along with her dad and brother, run cattle. Charlie works fulltime for Rutjens Construction, Tilden. Schwartz' mom, a retired educator who substitutes at Elkhorn Valley, does critical grandma duty with the couple's four children, three boys and a girl, ages 10-16.

Except for monthly 6:30 p.m. FFA meetings and time in Lincoln for state competition, along with other occasional longer hours, Schwartz said she maintains a strict Monday through Friday eight-to-four day in order to juggle career and motherhood. "My kids are involved in everything — sports, music, all the stuff," she said taking a deep breath, "and then there's managing the cow herd on weekends."

As students file respectfully into her classroom, there is this eagerness to learn in the air. "I teach any course on the (Nebraska) Department of Education list," she said, "and after 20 years, I'm pretty good at most." She did admit that ag mechanics (e.g. engines and construction) was her least favorite subject.

In the fall, the emphasis is on animal science and natu-

New route bus to cost $134,000

It's not if, but when, School District #18 will have a new route bus. The answer doesn't rest with school administration or the school board, it is in the hands of the bus company.

Meeting Wednesday night, five members of the school board (Todd Heithoff was absent) approved the purchase of a new route bus.

They approved the purchase of a 2027 Blue Bird 59-passenger bus. To save tax dollars, the board decided that the new bus would not have air conditioning.

New buses aren't cheap. The school district will spend $134,000 for the new rig.

When it arrives, approximately 90 days from now, it will replace a 2007 route bus which is no longer in commission because the cost of repairs would exceed the value of the bus. That bus will be put up for sale via Purple Wave at a cost to the school district of just $100.

There will be two new members to the teaching staff at EPS. During the latter stages of the meeting, the board unanimously approved teaching contracts for Vijendra Boken (math) and Miranda Rockwood (kindergarten).

In other action: Executive session — The board spent just over an hour in executive (closed) session to discuss employee classified agreements. No action was taken during closed session.

Back in open session, the board approved classified salaries recommendations and tabling activity bus wages. The vote was 4-0 (Eric Beckman abstained).

Presentation — High school students' Gemma Miller, Kyla Donaldson and Zoey Buechter reported to the board about their experience attending Capital City Forum where they discussed global issues and had an opportunity to interact with Third District Congressman Adrian Smith.

"I really appreciated being able to go," Donaldson told the board.

No need to worry — All 13 seniors were approved for graduation, having met all the necessary criteria. Graduation will be held Saturday afternoon, May 9 at 4 p.m.

Requisitions — As expected, the board approved teacher requisitions for the coming school year. Total cost will be $124,355.62.

Cameras — Due to their age and the inability to get updates and parts, 19 security cameras will be replaced this summer at a cost of just over $16,600.

Garlic Breadsticks

Good day, Do you like to make bread dough? I like to because you can create so many yummy things. This recipe for bread sticks is so easy. They would go great with a bowl of soup or your favorite Italian dish. Create whatever you want from it! The recipe calls for garlic seasoning, but I like Everything bagel on it. You can do whatever you like. I think warm out of the oven makes a great snack! Enjoy!

GARLIC BREADSTICKS

- 2 Tbs active dry yeast
- 2-1/2 cups warm water
- 2 Tbs sugar
- 2 Tbs oil
- 1 Tbs salt

- 6 cups flour
- 1/2 cup melted butter (brush on top)
- Garlic seasoning to taste

In the bowl of your mixer, dissolve the yeast in warm water. Add sugar, oil, salt, and flour. Mix until a soft dough forms. Knead in the bowl about 10 minutes. You can knead by and or use your mixer.

Roll the dough out on a flour surface about 1/2 inch thick and cut into strips.

Place on a greased baking sheet pan. Brush with melted butter and sprinkle on seasoning of your choice.

Bake at 350° for 22-25 minutes or until golden brown. Hint: I like Everything bagel as a seasoning to sprinkle on.

Remember when?

In the spirit of dressing for the occasion, here's a look back at downtown Elgin around 1909. The ladies were dressed for a celebration while the men were less formal. The location was the corner where the Bank of Elgin is today. Back then the bank was under another name. According to information scribbled on the back of the photo, standing in a suit coat and striped trousers was A.L. Armstrong.

Surveys

spend over 30% of their income on housing.
Housing age is another factor. Approximately 40% of homes were built before 1970, including about 31% built before 1950, indicating an older housing inventory. While many homes remain in good condition, 39% of respondents reported minor repair needs and about 6% reported major issues, with common concerns including windows, bathrooms, and flooring.

The study also identified a gap between the types of housing available, and the types of housing needed.

Most homes in Elgin are larger, single-family units, with about 65% having three to four bedrooms, limiting options for first-time homebuyers, smaller households, and those looking to downsize. Across survey responses, there was consistent indication of limited availability of entry-level and mid-range housing, particularly in the $100,000 to $200,000 price range, where demand exceeds supply. Input from housing professionals identified affordable single-family homes for purchase as the greatest area of need, with additional demand for rental units and housing types such as townhomes.

The study also highlights challenges for younger individuals and first-time homebuyers. Limited availability of entry-level homes, combined with higher housing costs and low inventory, creates barriers to entering the housing market. Survey feedback indicated that some individuals face difficulty purchasing their first home or returning to the community due to a lack of available housing options.

PJCC musical dates approaching

Pope John XXIII Central Catholic students will present Junie B. Jones, The Musical at St. Boniface Auditorium on Friday, May 1 at 7 p.m. and again on Sunday, May 3 at 4 p.m. Friday night's performance will begin at 7 p.m. while the Sunday afternoon performance will start at 4 p.m.

Directing the performances is Faith Orcutt assisted by Karin Kinney. Tickets are $15 for adults and $7 for students K-12 and may be purchased from cast members or by calling the school (843-5325). There are no reserved seats and tickets may also be purchased at the door.

These conditions may affect the community's ability to retain young residents and attract individuals and families looking to return to Elgin.

Input from employers and housing professionals further illustrates the connection between housing and economic activity. Employers reported that housing availability presents a moderate to serious challenge in recruiting and retaining workers, with some noting open positions that are difficult to fill due to a lack of available housing. Housing professionals also reported that overall housing inventory is not adequate to meet demand and that homes in good condition and priced appropriately tend to sell quickly.

Findings from both surveys indicate that housing, workforce availability, and economic development are closely connected. Residents identified business growth, service expansion, and job opportunities as key priorities, while employers identified housing availability as a factor affecting workforce recruitment. At the same time, the housing study identified constraints related to supply, affordability, and aging housing stock.

In Nebraska, communities may use local economic development programs such as LB840 to address needs identified through efforts like these surveys. LB840 programs can support a range of activities, including housing development, rehabilitation of existing homes, infrastructure improvements, and partnerships with private developers. In communities experiencing housing shortages or workforce challenges, these programs are sometimes used to help increase housing supply or improve existing housing conditions.

The results of the Community Survey and Housing Study provide a data-based overview of current conditions in Elgin. The combined results provide a data-based foundation for future planning and decision-making, offering direction on community priorities and areas where investment and development efforts may be focused.

The article was written by Michelle Olsen who has worked on the survey project with the LB840 local committee.

Omaha police found a 24-year-old woman lying dead on her kitchen floor Saturday night. Her throat was slashed. Jerry Black, daughter of Roy and Ruth Black of Neligh, was found at about 6 pm on the floor of her home at 3319 Blondo Street, according to Detective Robert Brisby. Brisby said a 41-year old man, a neighbor, has been booked in connection with the slaying. A woman has also been arrested as an accessory. Brisby said a girlfriend, who asked not to be named, was on the telephone with Miss Black, when Miss Black began screaming. The friend then called the 911 operator, saying there was a man in Miss Black's apartment, threatening her. The apparent weapon, a five or six-inch pocket knife, was found by police in a yard just west of Miss Black's home, according to Brisby. Miss Black was an employee of Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., police said.

The county road east of Elgin will be closed from the four mile corner to the 5 mile corner for removal of three bridges and to raise the grade, according to Darrel Ames, county surveyor. Everyone is requested to please use the detour. The road is expected to be closed around four weeks starting Tuesday, April 27th. The Cedar Creek channel will be changed to eliminate the west and center bridges. A new and larger bridge (60' x 26') will be constructed on the west end over the main channel of the Cedar Creek. The road bed will also be raised between 7 and 8 feet, Mr. Ames stated Monday.

Dr. Dale Jillson of Elgin has announced his plans to retire April 30 after 43 years of veterinary practice in the area. Dr. Jillson established his solo practice in January, 1954, at Neligh after acquiring his pre-vet. schooling at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and receiving his degree in veterinary medicine from Iowa State College at Ames in the spring of 1953. In the late 1950s, he began barn inspection of livestock at the Neligh Livestock Market and assisted his father, Dr. P. M. Jillson, at the Elgin Livestock Market. In 1961, Dr. Dale Jillson and his family moved to their home in Elgin, where he established his practice. By the 1980s, the practice focused mainly on large animals. Changes over the course of his practice included the virtual eradication of hog cholera, more convenient and updated facilities on many farms, a decrease in the number of operations with animals, and the trend toward specialization among veterinarians. Dr. P.M. Jillson established his veterinary practice in Elgin in 1920, and retired in the 1970s. Together, the two Jillsons provided a total of 76 years of veterinary service to the Elgin area.

Brian J. Stuhr of rural Petersburg, a freshman at Pope John Central Catholic High School, was one of six students chosen April 10 by Cornhusker Public Power District to participate in a Youth Energy Camp this summer. Stuhr is the son of Kenneth and Joan Stuhr. To compete for the camp experience, students take a quiz on rural electric information, give a speech on "What Happened When the Lights Went Out," and are interviewed by Ron Hostetter, general manager of Cornhusker Power. The six students with the highest combined scores are declared the winners. The winner will attend Nebraska Rural Electric Youth Energy Camp, July 14-19. The camp promotes energy education and electrical safety among Nebraska's youth.

Another legislative session in the books, along with another budget crisis averted

Editor's note: Opinions expressed here are those of the author and do not necessarily reflect those of The Elgin Review.

Some State Capitol watchers say they can't relax until state legislators go home for the year.

As a reporter who chased the occupants of the "Hall of Hot Winds" for too many decades, I can attest that the fire drill-like finish to legislative sessions leaves you ready for something different. Or a stiff drink.

Late-night sessions - which used to be a rarity - are par for the course these days, with debates extending 12 hours or more in the waning days of a legislative session.

Filibusters also used to be as unusual as a soaking rain in spring, but now are as common as the migration of the Sandhill cranes.

Reporters are notoriously underpaid (so please keep subscribing and contributing to this news source) but you have to wonder how state senators, who have been paid $12,000-a-year for the past 38 years, put up with it.

They deserve a raise, if you ask me.

Senators went home last week after a 60-day session in which the crowning achievement was closing a monumental gap in state tax revenue that grew to beyond $600 million. Passing a budget is really the only thing they're obligated to do.

The gap was created when the projected collection of state tax dollars fell far short of funding government services.

What happened? There were some deep cuts passed by the Legislature to reduce state income taxes, which has been a popular move in many other states.

The cuts were scheduled to be gradual under the law passed in 2023. The state's top rate for individual income tax, which had been 6.84%, is scheduled to eventually drop to 3.99% by the 2027 tax year. Corporate tax rates are also scheduled to fall to 3.99%.

Those were mighty deep cuts - cuts I thought I'd never see in Nebraska where he has many more cows and land than tax-paying people and corporations.

Lawmakers could have done the easy thing to solve the budget gap, by extending the gradual drop in income taxes to say 2028 or 2029, thus preserving hundreds of millions in tax revenue. They could have also increased cigarette taxes, something that hasn't been done for 24 years, to come up with more funds.

But instead Gov. Pillen and the Gang of 49 again passed a series of "sweeps" from purportedly idle state reserve funds, along with cutting some services, to solve the second budget crisis in the past two years.

(This is a solution, but a pretty temporary one. You can't keep stealing from the cookie jar forever, and it looks like next year's lawmakers will again be facing another big budget gap.)

The biggest fight over this year's budget was over a proposal by Gov. Pillen to spend $7 million a year to help families pay for private and parochial schooling for their kids until President Trump's tax credit for private school tuition takes effect in 2027.

As I recall, state voters rejected the use of state funds for private school tuition, opting instead to use that money for public education. So, in the end, that proposal failed, and rightly so. The voters had spoken.

Pillen, meanwhile, berated legislators, writing in a social media post that if he ran "that show" (the Legislature) their work would be done by April 1, and that lawmakers would be too tired to "go out every night drinking and eating" with lobbyists picking up the tab.

(That's pretty bold talk from some-

ALL THINGS NEBRASKA

State Correspondent Paul Hammel

one who is in hot water, and the subject of a law enforcement investigation, over the granting of a $2.5 million, no-bid contract to a lobbyist/friend. Wonder if any eating and drinking was involved?)

I often mused when I was covering the Legislature that I'd make things run more smoothly if I ran "that show."

But I watched a lot of smart Speakers of the Legislature try, and fail, at their own efforts of getting 49 senators to get along better.

The bottom line is we have a unique Unicameral where debate, and disagreement, is encouraged, and where you can use the rules to block progress and force a compromise.

It's like herding cats. It ain't pretty always, but it seems to work, even during this last session.

And now that lawmakers have gone home, we can relax.

Nebraska's National Guard is always ready

While serving as Nebraska's senior U.S. Senator, there are moments that remind me of how special Nebraskans are. Last week was one of them. On Saturday, April 11, 2026, Nebraskans packed the gymnasium at Lincoln Northwest High School to send off members of the 67th Maneuver Enhancement Brigade and the 234th Brigade Signal Company as they prepared to deploy to Djibouti. It was impossible not to feel the weight and pride of the occasion.

These soldiers are now on their way to serve at Camp Lemonnier in East Africa, where they will work to counter threats, build alliances, and promote stability in one of the world's most complex regions. This is serious, consequential work. And I'm proud that Nebraska is sending our best to do it. Another special moment I enjoyed was honoring the members of the Nebraska National Guard deployed in support of law enforcement in Washington, D.C. I hosted them in the U.S. Capitol for lunch and thanked them personally for sacrificing their precious time with loved ones to protect our nation. Their presence in our nation's capital is noticed and appreciated.

In addition to those men and women who wear the uniform, we cannot overlook the selfless sacrifice of their families. Their spouses are holding things together at home. Their parents are trying to stay strong at goodbye. Many of their children won't fully understand why Mom or Dad is gone, only that they are. Their service deserves to be recognized too. Time away is never easy, especially during birthdays, anniversaries, and holidays.

As fellow Nebraskans, we are here to support these families as they wait for their loved ones to return home.

The Nebraska National Guard has never needed to be asked twice. Time and again, our soldiers and airmen answer the call here at home and around the world. In recent years, they've battled devastating wildfires across our state, supported law enforcement, and showed up wherever they were needed, often on short notice and without fanfare.

I could not be more impressed by the Nebraska National Guard's tradition of courage, professionalism, and selfless service.

They carry the pride of this state and the gratitude of our nation. Please join me in praying for them as they carry out their mission overseas and giving them a warm Nebraska welcome upon their safe return home.

U.S. Senator Deb Fischer

Priority bills get final approval

The 109th Legislature's second session has adjourned sine die. As of the day of adjournment, the Legislature had passed 150 bills, excluding "A" (Appropriation) bills. Of the 107 priority bills this session, 75 bills were passed.

Many priority bills were passed: LB525 to create first-of-its-kind agricultural data privacy protections for agricultural producers, LB958 to require Nebraska to pay the maximum amount of coverage for which Medicaid recipients are retroactively eligible, and LB1096 to strengthen agricultural and critical infrastructure security from foreign adversary threats. However, we also had many priority bills that were left pending: LB512 to adopt additional screening requirements before a physician can provide an abortion-inducing drug, LB730 to require schools and state agencies to designate restrooms and locker rooms based on sex, LB779 to place limits on the charging of interest on medical debt, and LR298CA to clarify that Nebraska Environmental Trust funds can only be awarded via competitive grants.

Meanwhile, the Legislature made

U.S. Senator Pete Ricketts

Senate Republicans are putting more money in your pockets through the success of the Working Families Tax Cuts.

In Blair, I toured Novonesis and Evonik. These manufacturers provide good Nebraska jobs. Novonesis and Evonik keep Nebraska at the cutting edge of biotechnology. They make animal feed more efficient and nutritious. This helps ranchers feed the country. They work to turn Nebraska crops into biofuels. In turn, Nebraska farmers fuel the world.

With the Working Families Tax Cuts, we expanded demand for Nebraska bio-fuels and beef. We returned 45% clean fuel production credit profits to agriculture producers and doubled trade promotion programs. By providing no tax on overtime, the Working Families Tax Cuts also helps workers at these facilities.

I also met with the dedicated healthcare workers at Blair's Memorial Community Hospital. We discussed the challenges of providing rural health care. The following week, I went to Kimball to visit the new Kimball Health Services facility. I was impressed by the facility. It's beautiful, with state-of-the-art tools to keep Nebraskans healthy.

At both facilities, we discussed how the Working Families Tax Cuts provides them with funding and support. More funds are available for healthcare, while nurses and hospital staff benefit from no taxes on overtime. We discussed the Rural Health Transformation Fund and opportunities to improve it in the future. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, CMS, recently approved Nebraska's State Directed Payment Plan. This last year, the plan provided almost $950 million in federal funds for Nebraska hospitals. This can be renewed. I will continue working to ensure Nebraska is well represented in healthcare funding opportunities.

In Kimball, I also met with community leaders to discuss the new Sentinel Intercontinental Ballistic Missile, or ICBM, program. They're already planning for thousands of new jobs with the replacement of the Minuteman III missile system. In the Working Families Tax Cuts, Senate Republicans provided additional money for this upgrade. We're adjustments to the state's budget which reduces spending by 0.9 percent this biennium. The budget retains the minimum amount of relief specified from both the Property Tax Credit and School Property Tax Relief Funds.

This year, I introduced a total of sixteen bills and one constitutional amendment resolution. Additionally, the Agriculture Committee, of which I chair, introduced two bills. Fourteen of those measures passed. The bills I passed covered a wide range of topics including new license plate designs, public power utility interconnections, controlled substances, veteran homestead exemptions, livestock branding, sweepstakes, and newspaper public notices. In this session. However, the two legislative priorities relating to property taxes were not debated this year. LB1219 by Senator Brandt as introduced proposed to limit the total amount of property taxes that may be levied by any political subdivision to 2 percent plus real growth. LR292CA by Senator Andersen proposed to change how property taxes are calculated.

A petition drive calling for property tax relief is currently underway to place a series of initiatives on the 2026 general election ballot. The Reduce Taxable Property Valuation Initiative proposes to reduce the taxable valuation of real, agricultural, and horticultural property by half. The Cap Annual Property Valuation Assessments Constitutional Amendment proposes to cap annual property valuation increases at 3 percent. The Teacher Base Salary Initiative proposes to set an initial base salary of $50,000 for all certified teachers, regardless of years of experience or educational attainment, with the intent of ensuring K-12 schools are properly funded while not having a heavy reliance on property taxes. This petition drive is sponsored by the group Advocates for All Nebraskans, and their website is www.forallnebraskans.org

OBITUARIES

Pamela Meis, 71

March 9, 1955 — April 14, 2026

Pam truly embraced country living and life on the farm, working side by side with her husband Joe.

It is with deep sorrow that we announce the passing of Pamela Rene (McQueen) Meis of Elgin. Pam was called to heaven on Tuesday, April 14, 2026.

A Memorial Service was held at 10:30 a.m., Monday, April 20, 2026, at Levander Funeral Home in Albion, NE with Pastor Kurt Kinney officiating. A private family inurnment followed at St. Boniface Cemetery, Elgin. Visitation was held Sunday at Levander Funeral Home of Elgin.

Levander Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.levanderfuneralhome.com.

Pam was born on March 9, 1955, in Saint Joseph, Missouri to Betty & James McQueen. She grew up in Hiawatha, Kansas wherein she attended and graduated from Hiawatha High School. She attended and graduated from Benedictine College in Atchison, Kansas where she studied music and calligraphy.

Pam married Joseph M. Meis on August 19, 2005, in Elgin, Nebraska. Joe & Pam enjoyed many projects and adventures together and one of their biggest ventures was building their country dream home together. Pam truly embraced country living and life on the farm and you could often find her side by side working with Joe.

Pam leaves behind a lifetime of memories with her family. Pam was a very devoted and loving Mom. Her legacy continues on in her son, Aaron (Allison) Meisenheimer of Omaha, Nebraska.

The Elgin Review • April 22, 2026

Pam had a long career at FSA as a cartographer and later enjoyed working as a teacher's aide at Elgin Public School.

Pam was an accomplished musician and shared her talents of playing the organ and piano at Saint Boniface Church for many years. Her hometown was an important part of her life and she continued to make many trips there and annually took part in playing her trombone at The Tuba Christmas Concert in Hiawatha, Kansas. She enjoyed many hobbies and never walked away from a challenge. She enjoyed gardening, antique collecting, sewing, needle point, woodworking, and wood carving. Pam loved all animals and enjoyed having many fur and feathered companions when she moved to the country.

Pam was adventurous and always made sure to travel as often as she could. Joe & Pam made several trips to Scotland to meet her relatives and discover her heritage. One of her most memorable travels included a cruise down the Danube River in Europe. A favorite memory was when she travelled with her son, Aaron to Fairbanks, Alaska to see the dog sledding.

Loved ones remaining to cherish Pam's memory are her husband, Joe Meis; her son and his wife, Aaron & Allison Meisenheimer; brother, Michael (Alice) McQueen of Leavenworth, Kansas; brother, Brian McQueen of Hiawatha, Kansas; along with numerous nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

Preceding Pam in death are her parents; sister-in-law, Kim McQueen; and many loved ones.

NOXIOUS WEEDS MUST BE CONTROLLED

You are required to control noxious weeds on your property.

The noxious weeds are: Musk Thistle, Plumeless Thistle, Canada Thistle, Leafy Spurge, Knapweed (spotted and diffuse), Purple Loosestrife, Saltcedar, Phragmites, Knotweed (Japanese and Giant), and Sericea Lespedeza. Notice is hereby given this 22nd day of April, 2026, pursuant to the Noxious Weed Control Act, section 2-955, subsection 1(a), to every person who owns or controls land in Antelope County, Nebraska, that noxious weeds being grown, or growing on, such land shall be controlled at such frequency as to prevent establishment, provide eradication, or reduce further propagation or dissemination of such weeds.

Upon failure to observe this notice, the county weed superintendent is required to:

1. Proceed pursuant to the law and issue legal notice to the landowner of property infested with noxious weeds and giving such landowner 15 days to control the noxious weed infestation. Conviction for noncompliance may result in a $100 per day fine to the landowner, with a maximum fine of $1,500; or
2. Should more immediate control be required, proceed pursuant to the law and have the weeds controlled by such method as he/she finds necessary, the expense of which shall constitute a lien and be entered as a tax against the land, and be collected as other real estate taxes are collected, or by other means, as provided by law.

Also, the public is notified that noxious weed seed and propagative parts may be disseminated through the movement of machinery and equipment, trucks, grain and seed, hay, straw, nursery stock, fencing materials, soil, manure, and soil as well as articles of similar nature. Methods of treatment have been prescribed by the Director of Agriculture and may be obtained from the county weed control authority.

Elgin Review finishes second Class B 'Better Newspaper Contest' Judged by the North Dakota Press Association

The Elgin Review newspaper was recognized as one of the best weekly newspapers in the state during the annual convention of the Nebraska Press Association which concluded Saturday night.

Held at the Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln, Saturday night featured the announcement of winners in the Better Newspaper Contest judged earlier this year by members of the North Dakota Press Association.

The Elgin Review, owned and published by Dennis and Lynell Morgan, placed second in the Class B Weekly Class which tabulates total points for first, second and third place awards.

"Our aim, every week, is to reflect to the outside world, just what makes Elgin a great place to live, work and raise families. Our schools produce top-notch graduates who excel in the classroom and in athletics. The world needs to know how great it is to live here. We do that every week," the publishers said.

The newspaper received awards for advertising, photography, writing and composition. They were:

- First Place
 - Community Promotion Advertisement — American Education Week observed at Elgin Public Schools.
 - "Wow! Nicely done ad. Very colorful and easy on the eyes," the judge said.

- Color ad (1/4 page or less) — Elgin Rescue Color Run.

Designed by Lynell Morgan, the judge said "This advertisement stands out with its vibrant colors and playful design that perfectly fits the theme of a color run fundraiser. The layout makes the key information easy to find while creating an energetic and inviting feel."

- Classified ad (black & white) — Town & Country Veterinary Clinic Spa - a SPOT for you!
- Sports Column — Spinning Tales.

Written by Dennis Morgan, the judge said, "This column stands out because it manages to hook readers who usually skip the sports section. Anyone can pick up this piece and find it engaging, even if they aren't a fan of the game. It is simply great writing that makes a niche topic feel interesting to every single person who opens the page."

- Personal Column — Spinning Tales.

The winning column involved a years-long search for a micro-cassette oral history of Morgan's father who served in World War II and was part of the troop force who liberated a Nazi concentration camp.

- Agricultural Advertisement

— The Bank of Elgin
Designed by Lynell Morgan, the judge chose these words to describe the ad. "Top notch! Draws the reader in by asking a question, packs a punch with ag-specific imagery and then finishes with a great call to action."

Second Place
• Use of Computer Graphics (Produced in House) — School Enrollments

• Community Promotion Advertisement — TeamMates, National Mentoring Month
• Public Notice and Its Promotion (All Divisions) — Why Public Notices Matter

• Personal Column — Faith by Susan Szalewski

Third Place
• Reader Interaction Contest — These Eyes

• Newspaper Organized or Sponsored Event — Great Pumpkin Decorating Contest

• Sports Feature Photo — Winners - Headed for State

• Sports Game Coverage — 'Evans, Veik bring home state wrestling medals'

• Use of Color (News) — Community Remembers

The Class B Division is the largest division in the newspaper contest.

It is made up of newspapers with circulations ranging between 651 and 999.

ral resources. Come spring, ag business is center stage along with floriculture, nursery and landscape management, precision and sustainable ag, and more. Welding is offered all year long.

All courses are elective. Schwartz works with a steady stream of 40-50 students, grades eight through 12, from both EPS and Pope John. She said interest has increased since some students seek leadership opportunities through FFA. "I definitely have animal kids, plant kids, and crop kids, and some are none of those; they're interested in public speaking, a skill useful in any career." She estimates 40 percent of her students choose ag for post-secondary education and employment.

Asking her the basic question, 'what is ag?', she said emphatically, "You can't leave out traditional farming and ranching. You also have to include technology, chemistry, physics, bioengineering, and so much more. That's why Future Farmers of America changed its name to the initials of FFA (in 1988)."

Unlike other extra-curricular organizations offered by some schools, such as Future Business Leaders of America, FFA is intra-curricular. In other words, a school must teach ag in order to have a chapter. Nebraska currently has 209 chapters with more than 11,500 members, according to the Nebraska FFA Association.

About half of that membership, along with advisors and guests, totaling about 7,000, attended the March 2026 state convention in Lincoln. Among that swarm of blue jackets was 44 students from Elgin out of the 61 members. "Students have to qualify to compete in state," Schwartz explained as she lauded the parents and administrators from both Elgin schools for their support and sponsorship.

With transportation, lodging, and food, it's expensive to attend the Wednesday through Friday event, which is the reason for the FFA fundraisers. Except for food stipends, the FFA financial account is kept separate from the school's finances.

Schwartz said she's always looking for community volunteers each year to interview students running for eight FFA offices. These officers oversee the meetings focusing on planning and sign-ups for the next event.

About Schwartz, Anne Meis, rural Elgin, provided this glowing report:

"She understands agriculture and she understands teenagers and their strengths and brings the best attributes out in each child as she finds their niche in FFA and agriculture. As the Elgin FFA advisor, she was instrumental in helping form each of our three children as they found their career paths in agriculture. Our daughter, Marie, went on to be a Nebraska State FFA vice president in 2018 and 2019 where she learned valuable skills and had amazing experiences, thanks to the encouragement and coaching of Mrs. Schwartz."

The Elgin area, which relies on agriculture for much of its economic foundation, is fortunate to call Schwartz our teacher and advisor.

A very wise man, Socrates, once said this guy!

"YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT YOU DON'T KNOW"

If your local newspaper didn't publish public notices and write stories about past and upcoming public meetings, you would be left guessing at what your government entities are doing. New service rates, purchases and sellings of property, ordinances and so much more.

Governments are larger, more pervasive and way, way more powerful now than in any time in America's history.

Public notices are MANDATORY announcements of what these governmental bodies plan to do or what they have already set into motion. Therefore, they aren't very popular with governmental officials.

Since we know these notices are critical to keeping the public informed, you can find our legals in 3 places... our print/digital edition, on our website elginreview.com and in a statewide data base.

strengthening America's nuclear deterrence with this system partly based in Western Nebraska. Beyond construction workers and Air Force personnel, we expect new businesses will be coming into Kimball. We discussed the additional resources the surrounding counties will need to provide: roads, law enforcement, and judicial services. Nebraskans are recovering from historic wildfires. In Scottsbluff, I met with the University of Nebraska Panhandle Research Extension and Education Center. We discussed the impact of the wildfires on Nebraska rangeland and what potential recovery periods would look like.

In Hyannis, I met with the Sandhills Fire Prevention District. These brave first responders saved the town of Ashby in the middle of the night.

Their work is critical for rural communities. I am committed to making sure Nebraska volunteer firefighters have the support they need. That includes connecting the firefighters with grant opportunities to upgrade their equipment. That also includes helping recovery efforts and restoring the health of burnt rangeland. Together, we will recover.

Last week, I also brought Adam Telle to Nebraska. He is the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works. He oversees the Army Corps of Engineers. Together, we toured the Missouri River and met with local stakeholders. I was able to share the river's importance to Nebraska with Secretary Telle.

One of the most important roles of the Army Corps of Engineers is preventing future flood events. The 2019 flood in Nebraska had devastating impacts.

During this flood, 4 people lost their lives. It cost Nebraska more than $3 billion in damage. Farmers and ranchers lost $1 billion.

We're working together to make sure this doesn't happen again. We're fighting to improve the infrastructure that helps prevent future flooding events.

Meeting with Nebraskans while traveling our state is one of my favorite parts of this job. As Senator, just as Governor, I'll keep fighting for the Good Life and all that makes Nebraska great. It is an honor to serve you, and I'll never stop working to keep Nebraska the best place to live.

Sharon R. Derner, 81

May 2, 1944 — April 20, 2026

She spent her entire life in Beaver Valley, becoming involved in a wide array of community organizations.

Memorial Service for Sharon R. Derner age 81 of Bartlett, Nebraska will be 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, April 28, 2026 at Bartlett Church of Faith with Pastor Mark Hoffman, officiating.

Burial will be in Bartlett Cemetery.

Visitation will be Monday, April 27, 2026 from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Bartlett Church of Faith.

Snider Memorial Funeral Home is in charge of the arrangements.

Sharon passed away on Monday, April 20, 2026.

Condolences may be directed to the family at www.snidermemorial.com

Memorials are suggested to Wheeler County Historical Society Wheeler County Foundation.

Sharon Rose Mignery was born on May 2, 1944 at Elgin, Nebraska, to Erwin (Pete) and Edna Mignery. She joined a brother, David and a sister, Marilyn. Sharon attended District 5 grade school and then Wheeler County High School, where she stayed in the girls dormitory. She graduated in 1962.

After graduation, she worked at G-L-W extension office until her marriage to Dennis Derner in June of 1964. Three sons joined the family, Justin, Levi and Seth.

Sharon started driving school bus for Koinzan Bus Service in January 1979 and drove routes and activities for Wheeler Central until 2018, thirty nine years. She enjoyed her time spent with the students and their various activities. She and friend Karen kept busy, between bus routes, by painting many houses in the Bartlett area.

She later helped her friend, Dorothy Dexter at the Bibs and Boots for many years.

Sharon was very involved in community organizations. The Wheeler County Historical Society, Beaver Valley Women's Club, G-L-W Extension Club, Wheeler County Ag. Society, Bartlett Garden Club, Alumni FFA, Bartlett Cemetery Assoc. and the Bartlett Methodist Church.

She would volunteer her time in helping with events and those who needed help.

She spent her entire life on the Beaver Valley and was grateful that her children could grow up as the fifth generation on the valley. She helped with the various jobs that go with living on a ranch and raising her three sons.

She also had a passion for her horses, flowers and special dog, Baxter.

Survivors are husband Dennis, married 61 years. Sons Justin and wife Tansie, children Rachel, Rebecca, Teigen and Sage; Levi and wife Angie, Chance and Shelby; Seth and wife Carrie, Rece and Beau. And grandson, Tel and Jessica, Bentleigh, River and Oakleigh. Sister, Marilyn Mignery and brother David and Janet of Bartlett. Several nieces and nephews.

Sharon was diagnosed with ILD, Chronic Interstitial Lung Disease in 2017, which is incurable.

She still enjoyed life and her family.

TeamMates of Elgin celebrate their year

The TeamMates of Elgin chapter celebrated the closing school year with their End-of-the-Year event. Mentees, mentors and others associated with the chapter gathered for pizza and cookies Monday night. EPS principal Greg Wemhoff greeted attendees, noting that this is the chapter's 3rd year that they will have members of their TeamMates family graduating and moving on.

He recognized graduating TeamMates mentees and their mentors:

Kyndal & Amy Selting. Jarek & Trey with Brandon Callahan and Creighton who was previously matched and continued with the school's program.

Each of these seniors will be receiving a $250 scholarship that will be paid to the student's school of choice. Also, Creighton will be receiving the Paula Jensen TeamMates Memorial Scholarship.

Kyndal was awarded the Jaci McKeever Scholarship from the TeamMates Headquarters for $1,500 and the TeamMates Award Waiver for half tuition per academic calendar year.

Belonging to the Elgin TeamMates family not only benefits mentees in the availability of scholarships, but also the chapter, the school & the community. Recognizing mentors who go above and beyond for their mentees, making every effort to come once a week for at least 20 match times a year, Wemhoff listed:

- o Allen Beckman
- o Anney Beckman
- o Deb Beckman
- o Gwen Beckman
- o Hannah Beckman
- o Brandon Callahan
- o Andrew Childers
- o Alyssa Koinzan
- o Dennis Murray
- o Nickol Payne
- o Cassie Schrad
- o Marilyn Sehi
- o Amy Selting
- o Kara Shavlik

The TeamMates of Elgin chapter had 8 new matches bringing their total to 39 matches!

They still have 12 mentees needing a mentor.

Wemhoff also took a moment to thank coordinator Sonie Rittscher who is retiring at the end of the school session. She was presented a bouquet of flowers and given a standing ovation.

Please contact Sonia or Kristin at 402-843-2455 if you would like to be a mentor.

Retiring TeamMates of Elgin chapter coordinator Sonia Rittscher was recognized for initiating the establishment of and subsequent service to the chapter.

Trio to be auctioned next Monday for NE Sandhills Fire Relief

Next Monday's sale at Elgin Livestock Sales Inc will feature a brief auction of this metal sculpture. Proceeds will benefit the NE Sandhills Rancher Fire Relief. A rollover auction was held two weeks ago which raised nearly $20,000. A few more items were made available to auction off, including this trio of wolves. Made of metal, they have been painted and would be a great addition to anyone's landscape! You don't HAVE to be buying cattle to buy these items for the fire relief fund. E-R photo/LMorgan

How to graze your spring cereal grains

Winter cereals planted last fall can be a great forage resource for producers this spring. As plants begin to snap out of their winter dormancy, proper management is key to getting optimal use.

IT'S ALL ABOUT BEEF

Beef Systems
Asst. Ext. Educator
Ben Beckman

When grazed from early April to early May, forage quality of cereal rye, winter triticale, and winter wheat is similar. All three species can be very high quality. When managed correctly, growing calves can gain 3 to 4 lbs/day. Cereal rye can have greater growth during cooler conditions compared to wheat or triticale. This is the reason it can often provide earlier spring grazing. On the other hand, triticale retains its feed value better into late spring since it does not mature as quickly. This makes it well-suited for hay and silage, or for grazing well into June. If planning on harvesting hay after heading, make sure to choose an awnless variety to increase palatability.

When grazing, the key to optimizing performance of cattle with high nutritional requirements, such as growing calves or lactating cows, is to keep the grass from becoming overly mature. Remember, with lactating cows you want them on an increasing, or at minimum, steady plane of nutrition as they move into breeding.

Managing forage maturity is key to maintaining availability of high-quality forage. Small cereal forages grow fast and mature rapidly, so it is important to actively manage the grazing to ensure the plants are not allowed to become overly mature.

Begin grazing when the plants are about 5 to 6 inches tall and manage to keep the maximum height at 8 to 10 inches. Rotational grazing with higher stocking densities can assist with keeping the plant maturity more uniform and reduce selective grazing. Look ahead 1 or 2 pastures and move based on how the grass is recovering in those pastures. These forages grow fast and recover from grazing fast. The most common mistake when spring grazing small cereals is letting the grass get ahead of the cattle. It is important to increase stocking density as the spring progresses to ensure the cattle can keep up with the rapid forage growth. This can be achieved by either adding more cattle or reducing the number of acres being grazed. A good starting point is about 0.5 cow or 1 stocker calf per acre in early spring and increasing from there.

Like most cool-season grasses in early spring, small cereal forages are also high in potassium. This means there is a need to provide supplemental magnesium as potassium interferes with magnesium availability to the animal. A free choice mineral with a targeted 4 oz per day intake should contain at least 10% magnesium to prevent grass tetany in lactating cows and 5% magnesium to increase gains in stocker calves.

Remember, the key to getting the most out of grazing small cereal forages is managing the maturity by having the "right" amount of grazing pressure.

Senior Trey Rittscher, shown here competing at Battle Creek, won the shot put at Neligh last week with a toss of 47'1".

Zwingman, Rittscher lead Pack at N-O Invite

NELIGH — While points were hard to come by at the Neligh-Oakdale Track Invite, Wolfpack sprinter Ethan Hansen had a big day.

Hansen set a new personal mark in the 100 meter dash. In the prelims, he won his heat with a time of 11.6 seconds. He went on to finish fourth in the event to go along with a third place effort in the 400 meter dash. He also ran a leg on the 1600 meter relay team which medaled.

Wolfpack senior Trey Rittscher dominated the shot put. He won the event with a toss of 47'1" which was more than two feet better than second place finisher, Wolfpack sophomore Max Henn.

the long jump. The sophomore leaped 19' to win the event.

On the girls side, EPPJ senior Kayton Zwingman finished second in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles, continuing to show she's one of the best in this part of the state.

Sister Gentry Zwingman finished third in the 3200 meter run.

Gemma Miller placed in both the shot put and discus events.

Elkhorn Valley won both the boys and girls team titles. Teammate Braelyn Martinsen placed fifth in the 200 meter dash.

In the girls division they won with a score of 165 followed by Riverside 87, Humphrey-Lindsay 54, Niobrara-Verdigre 43, Cody-Kilgore 43, Osmond 34, Neligh-Oakdale 32, Madison 31, EPPJ 30 and Fullerton 2.

On the boys side, Elkhorn Valley dominated with 182 points followed by Riverside 91, Fullerton 74, EPPJ 54, Humphrey-Lindsay 50, Niobrara-Verdigre 22, Osmond 20, Neligh-Oakdale 19 and Madison 14.

Kallhoff shoots 90 to lead EPPJ at Summerland

SUMMERLAND — The Wolfpack golf team found conditions great for 18 holes of golf Wednesday here, but were unable to take advantage.

Competing at the Summerland Invite, the Wolfpack finished 12th in the team standings with a score of 407.

Winning the team title was Norfolk Catholic who had four golfers golf in the 70s to finish with a score of 299.

EPPJ's best effort was turned in by Karson Kallhoff who placed 29th with a score of 90.

Kallhoff, a state qualifier one year ago, has been the leading golfer for the Wolfpack this season.

Also breaking 100 was senior Jarek Erickson with a 98. This tournament marked Erickson's first time competing at the varsity level in this, his first year out for golf.

Gavin Kallhoff had a 108 while Michael Selting posted a score of 109. Rounding out the Wolfpack team was Dannyka Smidt with a score of 117 over 18 holes.

Braydon Kosch of Norfolk Catholic was medalist with a round of 72.

Track team finds points hard to find at O'Neill

O'NEILL — Competition was fierce at the O'Neill Invite held Thursday.

The Wolfpack did their best but finished well behind the leaders.

O'Neill won the boys team title with 101 points followed by Norfolk Catholic 76, Valentine 57, North Central 51, Bloomfield 50, St. Mary's 47, Ainsworth 41, Ord 31, CWC 19, Burke 14, Wausa 14, Summerland 14, EPPJ 11 and Boyd County 1.

On the girls side, Norfolk Catholic topped the field with 108.5 points. Taking second was O'Neill 90 followed by Ord 81, Ainsworth 44, Wausa 40, North Central 40, Valentine 29, Bloomfield 29, St. Mary's 15, CWC 14, Burke 12.5, EPPJ 8, Boyd County 8 and Summerland 8.

Scoring points for the Wolfpack girls was Kayton Zwingman who finished second in the 300 meter hurdles event.

On the boys side, The Wolfpack's best effort was turned in by Trey Rittscher who placed third in the shot put.

Individual results were:

Boys

Spinning Tales

Recent successes show Huskers belong in the Big 10

LINCOLN — It may have been the biggest baseball series ever played in Lincoln.

Beginning Friday night and concluding Sunday afternoon, the Huskers swept the University of Southern California at Haymarket Park. The play of both the baseball and softball teams wearing Scarlet & Red reflects what has been a year of showing that 'We Belong.'

This is what began more than a decade ago when Husker Athletic Director Tom Osborne pulled the Huskers out of the Big 12 and becoming a full-fledged member of the Big Ten.

Since then, it's been a slow, long climb to get to the point where, in all but a few sports, Nebraska has raised their level of play to be on an even field with the likes of Michigan, Penn State and Ohio State.

This was a topic that publishers from across the state discussed in the hospitality suite during the two-day annual convention of the Nebraska Press Association. Publishers, editors and others connected to the newspaper business gather in Lincoln for continuing education, to learn new ways to do what we do best - tell Nebraska's stories from Falls City to Scottsbluff, Ponca to Imperial and all points in-between.

Newspapers help shape the future of their communities. And, at this event, we let loose and have a good time with our peers, sharing stories (good and bad).

On Friday night, seated at our table was Nebraska women's basketball star Amiah Hargrove. She and Britt Prince joined us for the evening's activities. The top two leading scorers on this year's Husker womens basketball team which won their opening round game in the NCAA Tournament, they represent, as much as anyone, the growth of Husker athletics.

Almost every Husker sport now contends for conference championships. The talent level is outstanding as athletes compete for All-American recognition in their sport.

It's hard to believe that football may be the one sport which is lagging behind the others. We're not at the level of Ohio State and Michigan yet, but I still believe we'll get to the promised land (a Big 10 championship).

We're better today than we were yesterday and, God willing, we'll be better tomorrow than today.

I don't pay much attention to the NBA anymore. Too much on my plate and, frankly, the game isn't as good as it once was with Bird, Magic, Jordan and Dr. J. Maybe that's due to my age, it might be, I don't know.

But I do pay attention to what Golden State shooting guard Steph Curry does. He's in the twilight of his career now. But in his prime, the Warriors won four NBA titles thanks, in large part to the long-range shooting of Curry.

When the lights seem to shine brightest on Curry - he delivers.

Such was the case this past summer when Curry won the gold medal game for the U.S. over France, with four treys in the final minutes.

Fast forward to Wednesday night's play-in game between the Warriors and Los Angeles Clippers. With his team down double-digits in the fourth quarter, he did it again with treys as part of a 14 to 2 run to win the game in L.A.

It was vintage Curry. Just doing his job, no taunting, no B.S., just all-world talent manifesting itself on the grand stage.

The man is the greatest three-point shooter the NBA has ever seen. He's a threat to score after crossing mid court every time he has the ball. The shots splash through the nets. To watch him is to see the greatest shooter of his generation.

It's rare that a shooting guard can control a game the way Jordan, Bird and Magic did in their heyday, but that's the case. Hoping he has another year or two left in a legendary career.

Curry's game is sweet, his shots are deadly, the greatest outside shooter ever.

There's only one player who can be mentioned alongside Curry's. That's Bird. In their prime, to see a matchup between the two would have been priceless.

Who would win a game of one-on-one? That's a question for the ages. Bird's height against Curry's quickness. Each has weaknesses the other would capitalize on.

As much as I like Steph, I still have to take Bird.
